

Rev. James Lawson and Nonviolence in the Search for Workers' Rights

A film by Michael Honey & Errol Webber

WHAT CAN ORDINARY PEOPLE DO TO CHANGE A WORLD FULL OF VIOLENCE AND HATE?
IS NONVIOLENT REVOLUTION POSSIBLE?

Love & Solidarity addresses these and other questions through the life and teachings of African American Methodist minister Rev. James M. Lawson. Lawson provided strategic guidance while working with Martin Luther King, Jr., in southern freedom struggles and the Memphis sanitation strike of 1968. Moving to Los Angeles in 1974, Lawson continued nonviolence organizing in multi-racial community and worker coalitions that helped to remake the LA labor movement. By making the crucial connection between the civil rights and labor movements, Love & Solidarity presents a powerful argument for organized action that is particularly relevant today.

Southern and Labor Oral History through Song, Story, and Film: a Performative Exploration

Michael Honey, Professor of Labor and Ethnic Studies, University of Washington, Tacoma

Tuesday, February 28th, 2017 • 6 P.M. • Pugh Hall

Free Parking Available

Sponsored by the Samuel Proctor Oral History Program
Co-Sponsored by the Black Graduate Student Organization

The Samuel Proctor Oral History Program | 241 Pugh Hall, P.O. Box 115215 | University of Florida | Gainesville, FL 32611 | Ph: (352) 392-7168